

DISCLAIMER:

GM accepts no liability or responsibility for any losses that arise from using indicators or strategies coded by GM. There is financial risk when operating in financial markets. These risks are not limited to computer errors. Anything coded by GM should be thoroughly tested by the user. Even after testing GM is not responsible for any type of loss that occurs using his service. It is the USERS responsibility for all losses that may arise from any situation.

GM provides coding and automation services in the ThinkorSwim, Trade Station, and Python programming languages. GM provides a coding SERVICE to customers. His service is only the code generation of indicators and/or strategies. GM is not selling a financial market strategy that is his own idea.

Anything coded by GM is requested by the client and not an original idea from GM.

GM is not a licensed professional therefore any advice given is his opinion.

Past performance indicated by any strategy or indicator does not guarantee future returns.

X

---

Garrett Mohler